DOMESTIC NEWS.

New York, September 27th.—It is a pu zle to regular politicians where Henry George and party are going to meet elec-tioneering expenses, which in this city are lways a heavy item, but they will proba bly soon discover that the new party has resources of revenue not accessible to old political machines. Private and confi-lential circulars have been, or will be the coming week, sent to the Knights of Labor throughout the country appealing to them for assistance, stating that George repre-sents the cause of labor in the broadest sense, and to have him elected Mayor of a great commercial emporium would be a victory which would add immensely to the prestige of workingmen everywhere, and 2:20. might even pave a way to their naming the next President of the United States.

NEW YORK, September 27th.—Lord Lonsale was interviewed about his trouble with dale was interviewed about his trouble with Debesande, which had brought him into Court in England. He told nothing new. Neither he nor Miss Cameron could imagine why Debesande had followed them. Debesande said: "I have been wronged in every way by both parties. Lord Lonsdale abused my confidence in every way, and outraged me as a man. I came here to see that Lord Lonsdale did not outrage me further by taking rooms at the same hotel as my wife. Had he done so I would have smashed his head. He knows that, and is afraid of me. I have already saed him for libel, and he knows that I will do everything to keep him from further abusing me." The Waights The Knights of Labor. New York, September 27th.—The Trib-une says of the coming Knights of Labor Convention at Richmond that it is expected the session will last at least two weeks, possibly longer. Much time will be taken ip with changes in the constitution of the rder, which must be accommodated to its order, which must be accommodated to its rapid growth. The general impression is that a plan of government will be introduced based on the State system, each State to form a State district with an executive board to have jurisdiction in State affairs. Over this will be a general assembly with its general officers and executive board. This board will be clothed with more power n the affairs of the order than the National Government has in the affairs of the nation. The affairs of the home club will take up much time.

A Point for Topers.

Washington, September 27th.—Consul Tanner, of Chemnitz, reports to the Secretary of State that the beer production of Germany in 1885 was 1,100,000,000 gallons—enough to form a lake more than one ile square and six and a half feet deep; or, it would make a running stream as large as some of our rivers. He says the consumption of intoxicants in Germany per head is four times more than in the United States, yet there are thousands of hopeless drunkards in the United States to ten in Germany. MR. BARTLETT'S RECORD AS AN OP PONENT OF THE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Readers of the RECORD-UNION have been familiarized with the debate concern ing the State tax for maintenance of the common schools. Certain journals of Sar Francisco have for years opposed, and still lose no opportunity to assail the system that treats all the schools of the State a of a common system and entitled to equal support proportioned to the number of census children in the several districts. The RECORD-UNION has uniformly replied to such journals, and stood for the

Under this wise system there is insured to every child in the State at least six months "schooling" in each year. Under this progressive system a few thickly settled communities pay to the State school fund more school money than is apportioned to them from the fund, while thinly pay in. And this is a right system. It in the hour of trial proved true to the free proceeds upon the fact that our county and district divisions are for convenience in operating State machinery only; that the terest of the State is in the education of all the children of the State. But the opponents contend that a school district hould draw no more from the State than it pays in, that is, every school district should "paddle its own canoe." Obviously this would deprive the children of many districts of all common school privileges, for the outlying districts are too thinly peopled and too little developed to

Mr. Washington Bartlett, the nomine of the Democracy for Governor is one of the opponents we refer to. In his trenchant address Saturday night, in this city. Colonel Haymond referred to this fact, and declared that Mr. Bartlett, when in the Legislature had resisted and voted against the bill establishing the present system. It was a point well made. Let us go a little further and see what are the exact facts.

In 1873 Mr. Tuttle of Sonoma, in the State Senate, introduced a bill to amend the school law. It provided for an ad valorem State tax sufficient to raise seven dollars per capita for all the school census children in the State, and in addition an ad valorem tax in each of the counties of $3 per capita for the education of all the children in the State between the ages of 5 and 17 years. In addition to this State allowance there was added the poll tax and the interest on bonds held in trust by the State for the benefit of the school funds, and the interest due for school lands fold by the State. Thus in 1884 the State nent per census child was $8 50, while in 1883 it was $8 74 and in 1882 The county apportionment in 1882 was $3 25; in 1883, $3 31, and in 1884 $3 25. So that between $11 and $12 are ed each year for the common school lucation of the children of the State er there is a school district containing ten census children, and these ten, though in the altitudes of Modoc, or the remote hills of Inyo, have like privileges, o far as the State is concerned, with-the And who will at this day, except Mr. Bartlett and a few of the San Francisco ss, venture to say they should not?

Bartlett voting no. In fighting the bill Mr. Bartlett said: In fighting the bill Mr. Bartlett said:
He had considerable suspicion of the bill. It did great injustice to large cities. San Francisco would have to pay a very large share of the expenses of the schools of the State. Out of $1,279,080 (according to his estimates) to be raised under the bill, San Francisco would have to pay $575,587, and would get back but $298,655.
Alameda would lose the same way $24,748, Fresno $4,733, Kern $1,390, Marin $6,057, and so on. He claimed the bill was for the benefit of outside counties, at the expense of San Francisco and a few others.

Mr. Tuttle defended his bill at great Mr. Tuttle defended his bill at great length, saying among other things:

The State should assume control of the education of its youth. Wealth is unequally distributed. The mass of the people have nothing with which to pay for the education of their children, but this very class furnishes the best material to be educated, and from this class—the laboring people—the school-houses are filled and graduates to the world of industry sent forth. From this class spring many of our most successful business men. Inequality in the distribution of wealth and the large area of the State and its sparseness of population prevent educational results attainable in fortunately situated localities. The State had established a system of common schools. It should direct the course of educational matters. The welfare of the State depends on the intelligence of its citizens. It is therefore the duty of the State to provide the means with which to educate all its children. Up to that time the State had given but $3 per capita per annum to this end. Under such a system the counties had to come to the rescue or there would not have been six weeks of school in the State in the past year. In some counties the school tax was as high as 35 cents, in others but 10 cents; in some schools were open ten months, in others but injury. It was not then a general or a common school system, but a local one. He demanded that the State secure to every school district six or eight months of school per year; but, whatever it is, let it be uniform. Massachusetts raised $19 63 per capita for schools, and the funds are distributed impartially by districts. Opposition to the system comes from large and wealthy districts should have sufficient to give them the benefit of a common school education. San Francisco took her share of the 16th and 36th sections of land donated by the United States for school purposes. The intention was that their proceeds should go the school districts, but this State puts it all into a general ford. It the money had gone to the ength, saying among other things:

But Mr. Bartlett voted to kill the bill Nevertheless it passed, and to-day no legislator would have the temerity to propose to repeal it unless it should happen that Mr. Bartlett should be elected and give courage to some representative from a wealthy county, by recommending in his essages the abrogation of the school revenue system and the return to the antiquated local support method. Are the people prepared to take the chances of such a result by advancing Mr. Bartlett? Certainly the people of the interior are not Very different was the action of Mr. Swift in the same Legislature in the Assembly. There the bill Bartlett fought se settled and remote districts receive more bitterly passed by ayes 72 and noes 2, and from the fund, as they should, than they Mr. Swift voted aye. GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy dectors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maiadies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—[Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. The Colville Lecture. W. J. Colville, the inspirational speaker, had a large audience at Pioneer Hall last evening. J. M. Avery presided. Mrs. Wilbur Smith sang in excellent voice and with much feeling "Departed Days" and "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Mrs. Abbie Genung accompanying. For a "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Mrs. Abbie Genung accompanying. For a quarter of an hour before rising to speak Mr. Colville improvised at the piano, playing with what might be termed the abandon of feeling. The subject of the lecture was "The Origin and Destiny of Man." He spoke rapidly, fluently and with eloqueuce of earnestness for over an hour, holding his audience in the perfect ouiet of profound attention. In no limited quiet of profound attention. In no limited space can an adequate idea of the lecture be presented. We can only present a few leading points without accompanying processes of reasoning. He believed the biblical doctrine of creation and the theory of evolution to be the two extremes be of evolution to be the two extremes be-tween which truth is found. But these extremes are not, properly viewed, antag-onistic. The first attributing everything to a first great cause accounts for evolution by involution; the other is lost when it comes to the atom of beginning, unable to ac-count for its creation. Creation was Divine power working out a scheme up to man, to whom, there is no successor. That and whom there is no successor. That end attained, the "Sons of God sung for joy." Divine power, operating for good and continuouslly, it is abhorrent that with life man shall end. The work of evolution must therefore go on when man leaves this stage to progress infailed. this stage to progress infinitely toward a far distant goal. The lower animals stand still, reproducing their species but never progressing, but with man the power of progression is illimitable. The two Biblical accounts of creation are allegorical, the other partly historical.

The Godhead is plural, and we can as well say our mother in heaven as "Our Father," and for this it reads, "Let us make man in our image." Theodore Parker's sublime prayer recognizes this plural character. It was not man, but mankind that was evolved by Divine will. The making of woman from the side of man referred to the spirituality and refinement to reliable.

Convention, guaranteeing that the matter would be brought up there and have as much attention paid to it as any one could desire. Mr. Carey's motion was lost on a tie vote.

Then followed a long wrangle. Propositions were made and rejected. At one time sual side, by which, the Eye of affection and the Adam of intellect were debased, and misery brought into the world. The and misery brought into the world. The end of creation was but the close of a cycle of creation. God did not "rest," for that implies that God could be fatigued. The later days are not the end of the world, but the close of a cycle of progression. We stand now on the threshold of a new cycle, when all mysticism will be cleared away, the veil rent, and the inner truth be led, and we shall know why the ill. Darwin was no materialist, no atheist. Over his ashes in Westminster, religion said: "It is not known that evolution is inconsistent with revelation." The agnostics come to this: "We do not know"—that is all. We are conscious beings, therefore the product of consciousness greater than ours. Death is the pas-

We are to value ourselves only for the good we can do others. So we are always sowing, always reaping. At the conclusion, the audience selecting provised a poem for some ten minutes, em-bracing the doctrine that all happiness consists in the consciousness of good deeds

The speaker gives a metaphysical lecture at 2:45 to-day, and to-night will speak at 7:30 on a subject to be chosen by the audience. He leaves for the East to-mor-

THE DEMOCRACY.

Preparing for the Convention-The Delegates Elected. The committee of eight appointed by the sub-committee of the Democratic State Central Committee as a compromise measure, to quiet the disagreement between the Little Six and Big Ten factions, held another meeting last evening at the office of the Secretary, Add. C. Hinkson. There were present Messrs. Stephens, Carey, sary because of a compromise, one of these gentlemen withdrawing, but which one the committee had been unable to ascertain. The special election yesterday in the third precinct of the First Supervisor District to decide the tie between J. A. Martin and G. Depuy, resulted in the former receiving all the votes cast—forty-four—there being no

The main business of the evening was relative to the contest in the fourth pre-cinct of the Second Supervisor District. A protest from D. E. Alexander, inspector at that precinct, against the returns of the judges being accepted—on the ground that they had refused to count 26 legal ballots; they had refused to count 26 legal ballots; also that the said judges were prejudiced in their action because of their being candidates on one of the tickets, and if the 26 ballots had been counted they would have ballots had been counted they would have that he did, and they settled the tie by matching coins, instead of shooting off.

General Carey held, as did some of the others, that the Committee of Eight had no authority to go behind the returns. A Board of Supervisors would not have such authority in case of contest for an office, but the ballot counting and other work of that character must be done in Court. He held that in this instance the committee were in the place of the Supervisors, and the County Convention stood for the Court. He moved that the committee take no action relative to the contest in the fourth precinct other than to send the tally list and returns, ballots, register, etc., together with Mr. Alexander's protest, to the Convention, certifying to that body that they were just as received from the officers of

Mr. O'Neil moved as an amendment that the protest be accepted and the 26 ballots counted for those in whose favor they were cast. After discussion, the amendment was voted upon and lost, by a vote of 4 to 4. The main question, Mr. Carey's motion was then discussed. The Big Ten dele was then discussed. gates fought shy of certifying to anything. They wanted all papers, ballots, etc., locked up in the ballot-box and sent to the Convention, guaranteeing that the matter would be brought up there and have as much attention paid to it as any one could

Then followed a long wrangle. Propositions were made and rejected. At one time the spirituality and refinement to which man was lifted up. The serpent was the development of the carnal nature, the sensual side, by which, the Eye of affection Board" aroused Mr. Sullivan's antagonism again, he claiming that a certificate from the committee, as such Board, would have an influence in favor of the returns made by the majority of the officers of election of the precinct.

The Six representatives then agreed that, majority. to avoid any influencing, there should be indorsed on the certificate a recommendation that neither delegation from the con-tested precinct should have any voice in revealed, and we shall know why the Bibles have been preserved and were so holily regarded by all peoples. As to man's destiny, it is progressive. From the spiritual he came, a seed knowing not experience. There is no infinite reward, no infinite punishment. For misspent lives the did not explain what they did not explain what ual he came, a seed knowing not experience. There is no infinite punishment. For misspent lives there is punishment, as the need is. The spirits of the ill-doers are about us gaining progressive power and right by endeavors of the ill-doers are about us gaining the fourth precinct admitted to the Convention. He said that anyone could see the drift of the remarks of the "Little present". to restrain and better us. There is no evil spirit urging us to do wrong, but hosts of Six" members of the committee present members of the committee preser that they were favoring the contestants. If the latter were admitted to the Convention egation, and twice or triple its number added to their votes, could not carry the Convention against the majority the Six In the course of his remarks, Mr. Stephsage to another evolutionary stage. Resurrection is not a marshalling of corpses, but the sing up of man out of materialism. It is not true that there is no punishment after death, but there is a vast difference between no punishment and eternal punishment. We are to very less only the correction of the Six, as regarded their probable action in the Convention. Mr. O'Neil responded promptly that the Big. Ten did not want any generosity from the Six; if their men could not get into the Consideration.

vention without that they did not want to go in. What they did want was justice, and they were bound to have it and neither he nor Mr. Sullivan would have any certificate the subject "Happiness," Mr. Colville improvised a poem for some ten minutes, emjourned until 11 A. M. to-day, while the "Six" members were affixing their names to the document drawn by Mr. Carey. The Convention will meet a Turner Hall this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The county

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

SECTION 1. All property in the State, except railroads, not exempt under the laws of the United States, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as provided by law. The word property, as used in this article and section, is hereby declared to include moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, dues, franchises and all other matters and things, real, personal and mixed, capable of private ownership; provided, that growing crops, property used exclusively for public schools, and such as may belong to the United States, this State, or any county or municipal corporation within this State, shall be exempt from taxation. Growing vines and fruit trees shall be deemed to be and shall be assessed and taxed as a part of the realty; and, provided further, that railroads shall be taxed as provided further, that the Legislature may provide for the exemption from taxation of ships and vessels owned and registered or enrolled in this State, or may tax such ships and vessels on their gross or net earnings, in lieu of an ad valorem tax. The Legislature may also provide, except in case of credits secured by mortgage or trust deed, for a deduction from credits of debts due to bona fide residents of this State. Double taxation in any form is prohibited.

Double taxation in any form is prohibited. SEC. 8. The Legislature shall, by law, require each taxpayer in this State to make and deliver to the County Assessor, annually, a statement under oath, setting forth specifically all property, real and personal, except railroad property, as defined in Section Ten of this article, owned by such taxpayer, or in his possession or under his control, at twelve o'clock meridian on the first Monday in March.

A reporter learning of the affliction, suffering and final recovery of Mrs. C. A. Bailey, of Somerville, near Bos-ton, called on her husband at No. 171 him best say that he was a dreamy, imaginative youth, who loved to muse idly by the river side, and on the mountain top, and who, amid all the savagery and looseness which he shared, had a soul in constant sympathy with the beautiful in nature Blackstone street, Boston, and heard his report of the case, which is, to say the Sunday morning at an early hour the excursionists on the train that went to the Upper Soda Springs Saturday were up, and the narrow canyon reverberated with shouts, peals of laughter, singing, and the crack of resounding firearms. The two trains formed a line of miniature hotels for over half a with should be considered as the constant of the case, which is, to say the least of it, simply wonderful. Twelve years ago Mrs. Bailey, whose home is on Moore street, West Somerville, was attacked by a hideous black eruption which rapidly extended from foot to lower limb, and thence to the thighs, back, neck, face and head, until her whole body was one mass of living, dying putrefaction. This mysterious for crept so swiftly on as to strike terror into all loving head. all the eminent physicians who were summoned could check its fatal progress, or even diagnose the disease sufficiently to give it a name. The most learned physician in Cambridge, whose wide experience in the study and treatment of skin diseases in the study and the detailed of skin diseases in the hospitals of Europe rendered him, probably, the highest authority in New England, heard of Mrs. Bailey's affliction and volunteered his services for six months, in the hope of checking this terrible scourge. He was enabled to successfully agnose the case, and pronounced the blown from that fire."

The Nevada City Herald of the 24th speaks of a wood fire in that vicinity as follows: "One of the most destructive malady to be a species of leprosy designated in European hospitals as "Lupus," the Latin for "wolf;" and from the dark the Latin for "wolf;" and from the dark color of the eruptions better known as the "Black Wolf;" and surely no beast of prey was ever more relentless in its pitiless ravages than was this horrible pestilence. When the doctor undertook the case the poor woman was on the verge of eternity. Her body, from the soles of her feet to the crown of her head, was a mass of decay, masses of flesh rotting off and leaving great cavities large enough at times for the insertion of an ordinary teacup. The flesh was so eaten from her neck that the cords and tendons were exposed to view. Her fingers festered, and three or four of her days a force of over 200 men have been fighting the fire, but all their efforts are not nails dropped off at once. Her limbs, contracted by this terrible ulceration, became drawn up and contracted, and she lay on her bed a poor crippled object, whose daily prayer was that death might speedily end her sufferings. Her weight was reduced from 125 to 60 pounds, and for years she never left her bed. The terrible condition of the poor woman beggars description. Some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of The country surrounding Alturas is enveloped for miles in a smoky haze which ettles with great heat and thickens in the Cosmoline per week were used in dress ing her sores. The land-owners ought to be light of all, her sores began to heal, very slowly and gradually at first, but surely nevertheless. Appetite and strength re-turned ere long, and on the first of February last every sore was healed, and Mrs. Bailey discarded chair and crutches, and for the first time in 12 years was a well woman. Mr. Bailey, when seen at his place of business, 17½ Blackstone street, Boston, expressed his cheerful readiness to communicate more in detail relative to this remarkable cure with any one who nay be afflicted by eczema or kindred com-laints; and in his gratitude to Swift's Specific he is ready to meet, personally, all who may desire to know more of the facts of the case than is possible to rehearse in the public columns of a newspaper. About twenty years ago I discovered a little sore on my cheek, and the doctors pronounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians, but without receiving any permanent benefit. Among the number were one or two specialists. The medicine they applied was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain. I saw a statement in the papers telling what S. S. S. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been bad for two or three years-I had a hacking cough and spit blood continually. I had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise every one with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial. MRS. NANCY J.
